THE DANGEROUS CLASSES.

Mr. ELBRIDGE T. GERRY considers that THE EVENING WORLD Children's bill is urged by and in the interests of the "dangerous classes."

This would include the Justices of the Supreme Court and the County Committees of Tammany Hall, County Democracy and the Republican party among the "dangerous classes," for they all are urgently in favor of lisch came in a little later scalled him for not reporting that Weshsing sometimes slept on the softs.

But probably Mr. Genny refers only to poor parents, unprotected by the law in their natural and constitutionally inalienable rights. From his standpoint poverty is practically synonymous with crime.

Dr. Doepfner, an excitable man of fort, five, was cross-examined by Mr. Purdy, and the following points were elicited, Krulisch all the time preserving his composure and evincing only such an interest in the proceedings as might be expected from a boy on his first visit to Court.

Mr. Purdy—You employed Wechsung once, discharged him and afterwards hired him again. How did you come to discharge Wechsung?

A. I forbade him to buy beer and drinks tim the store, and he quit. I did not discharge below.

Q. Did he have a day off 7 A. Yes, he was gone every Wednesday.

Q. Was he in the habit of getting drunk 7 A. He was once. Never before nor after.

Q. Then why did you say the first thing that morning that he was drunk 7 A. Well, when a man has been out all night—it was my first employed. But to our mind Mr. GERRY himself is the representative of the most "dangerous class"-the class that is in the habit of invading the home circle, robbing parents of their children and children of their parents, and opposing all means at law of rectifying any injustice, however harsh, that may be done.

We are sorry to see that the Herald has slowed down on its campaign of falsehood and misrepresentation against the Children's Bill. Its malignant opposition only served to bring out conspicuously the great justice of this cause.

The Children's Bill is The Evention World's greatest fight in behalf of justice. We don't know what it is to be beaten. Come on with your Bureaucrats, Mr. Gerry.

In fact, the business of the Bureau has been little more than half attended to.

Of those market standnolders in arrears, Supt. Daly has found one man in Faiton Market who owes the city over $700. Another in the same market owes fifty-eight weeks' rent, and still another rent for six months.

It is the purpose of the Commissioners of Accounts to make a preliminary report to the Mayor upon the allotment of stands in the new West Washington Market, which they were first instructed to inquire into.

Then they will proceed to investigate the Market Bureau and its conduct generally, and make a supplemental report.

Just at present the Committee is making out the 'dead-head' list, and the names of all who are to receive invitations either to the ball and supper or to the banquet are being written on the envelopes by a comple of expert penmen in a large and elegant steel-plate hand, after which they are turned over to the old gentleman with gray rick whiskers, who carefully inserts the invitations and supper cards, which answer the purposes of the ordinary bat-checks.

The number of deadheads at the ball will be about five hundred, according to the latest estimates of the committee, who, to tell the truth, were not a little flabbergasted by the raid made upon them by the Legislature, led by Capt. "But the above-named causes bear no comparison to those insidious and hidden sources of physical and nervous weakness among men so prevalent at the present day. Many a man who had formerly supposed himself possessed of a powerful physique and strong and steady nerve, wonders at his feeling of exhaustion, leasting and lack of inclination for physical and mental executions. Where before he had a feeling of strong and vigorous physical and nerve power, he now has only a sense of weakness, languor, duiness and exhaustion. This is often especially noticeable in the morning: every morement is an exertion for a time, and it is only after some time and the machinery of the system gets warmed to work, so to speak, that the feeling of exhaustion gradually wears away. When the night comes, and the day's work is over, the same stred and enervated scusations return, and the night's gleep, which should refresh the system and restore escength and vigor to the nerves and muscles, often leaves the More Tired and Exhausted than on retiring.

"Business men and clerks, whose prosperity depends upon their clearness of brain and mind, find their mental strength impaired and their endurance and power to work, read or study diminished. Prefessional men, students and mechanics often find their covers of thought decreased, where formerly their power of thought decreased, where formerly they could endure many consecutive hours of close applica-tion of the mind, they now find that the thoughts wander, and there is inability to fix the mind for any length of time upon one subject; with this there is an extremely nerrous and irritable condition, a dull, cloudy sensation often accompanied by disagreeable feelings in the head and eyes.

"As these symptoms increase there is usually a de-rangement of the digestive organs, with a gradual fall-ing of strongth and weakness and pain in the back. There is often a bad taste in the mouth in the morning the vision becomes dim, the memory is impaired, and there is frequent dizziness. Persons thus affected are often despondent and suffer from gloom and depression of the mind. The nerves become so weakened after a face or bring on a tremor or trembling, often attended by more or less palpitation of the heart.

"The patient having these symptoms, or a portion of them, is suffering from nervous debility, caused by exhausted pervous vitality from overwork, excesses and abuses, which must inevitably gradually break down the nervous and physical system, unless proper strengthening and invigorating remedies are used to strength.

"Let us now look for the treatment and cure. Being brought in contact with many thousands of sufferers from this disease, as I am in my practice, I recognize, first of all, that they demand the Physician's Deepest Sympathics, rather than his blame or censure. Physicians have no right to condemn patients for the result o forance, Neither should they consider the disease too i, http, as do many physicians, whose lack of experience and fall-ure to cure such affections lead them to assure patients that the trouble is trivial, and abould cause no anxiety whatever. Every sufferer knows that it is no trivial cause which is gradually sapping the fountain of his strength, rendering him nervous, weak, ener vated and exhausted, and his judgment tells him that it is a prostrating disease which has its weakening and enervating ciutches upon his life. It only requires the scribing deadly poisons in this disease. Strychnia, phos-phorus and kindred poisons are prescribed by physicians because they do set know what also to give. What is required to cure such cases, what experience dictates and observation proves is the use of our harmless vegetable remedies, which restore strength to the weakened

'Under the use of these vitarizing remedies the dull eyes regain their brilliance, the lines in the face disap-pear, the pale look and hollow cheeks give place to the flush of renewed heaith, the nerves become strong and steady, the blood courses again through the system in healthful streams, and the sad heart becomes light, while the Gloom and Depression are lifted from the mind, which now becomes buoyant by their use to perfect and permanent health and strength, would certainly indicate that this treatment is a positive addition to the science of medicine. In no other class of diseases have the remarkable offects of Dr. Greene's discoveries in medicines been more marked or more happy in their results. Thou-sands of unhappy sufferers, who before using these wonderful vitalizing and strength-giving remedies looked forward to a life totally useless to themselves and a bur-den to others, have regained perfect strength, vigor and health, and it is for this reason that we say to all similarly afflicted, in whatever stage, to take hope, that there is a perfect and permanent cure by applying to this eminent and skilful physician. Dr. Greene's office is at 35 West 14th st., New York, where he has extensive laboratories for the preparation of his vegetable remedies. His office hours are from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M. dally; Sundays, 9 A. M. to 12 M. All should remember that the doctor can be consulted by all who desire, absolutely free of charge, personally or by letter. He has published a valuable book, "Facts Worth Knowing," giving information in regard to dis-eases and their cure by harmless vegetable medicines, which will be sent free by mail to any one who may wish it. This evening at 8 o'clock, in Chickering Hall, the doctor delivers another private illustrated lecture to men only. Admission is free, and we predict that the hall will be packed by an interested audience

A row ensued, during which Muir claims he was assaulted by three other guards, who, after kicking him all around the station, finally gave him into custody.

Muir admitted that he had taken several drinks, but not enough to intoxicate him. 123 Fulton St., (Between Nassau and Will-
